Chip, the Mouse Cookie

When Chip ate a cookie crumb on the ground he turned into a cookie. When he went home to his mouse friends they wanted to eat him, so he escaped and ran away. He encountered some scary hungry animals and a sly dog who lured him into his house, only to trick him. That is why one of his ears is bitten. Then he met a cookie chick and they became friends and created a home together for animals that accidentally turned into cookies.
